Copyright and Personal Use Policy

NICASDIGITALPAGE | Effective date: November 5, 2026

1 Ownership and scope

This policy applies to NICASDIGITALPAGE digital products and free resources. Original, copyright-protected contributions owned by Leonica Fountain, operating as NICASDIGITALPAGE, remain our property. These may include original written content, designs, and protectable creative selection or arrangement. Third-party material remains subject to its owners' rights and applicable licenses.

Some products include AI-generated or AI-assisted elements. We claim copyright only to the extent protection exists under applicable law. We do not claim exclusive copyright in ideas, facts, public-domain material, or purely AI-generated elements that are not protected. Purchasing or downloading a product does not transfer ownership of our protected material.

2 Personal use license

When you lawfully purchase or receive a product, you receive a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable license to access and use it for your own private, personal learning or enjoyment. You may download and save an unchanged copy on devices you personally control, together with a reasonable backup copy for that same purpose.

The license is for one individual. It does not include permission to edit or reformat the product, redistribute it, publish it, sell it, or use its content commercially. Free products carry the same restrictions as paid products.

3 Restrictions

Except to the extent applicable law gives you a right that cannot be restricted, you may not: • Resell, sublicense, rent, redistribute, upload, or give away the product or any substantial portion of it.

- Share files, access credentials, download links, or copies with others, including friends, clients, coworkers, or members of a group.
- Edit, reformat, translate, rebrand, or create derivative versions of the product.
- Remove ownership notices or claim the supplied material as your own.
- Publish product content on websites, social media, shared drives, memberships, courses, resource libraries, or marketplaces.
- Incorporate product content into business marketing, client deliverables, or other products for sale or distribution.
- Upload protected product content into AI services for training, rewriting, reproduction, or redistribution without permission.

No commercial-use rights, private label rights (PLR), master resale rights (MRR), or other resale rights are included. Merely changing colors, fonts, formatting, wording, or file type does not create resale permission.

4 Learning and legal exceptions

You may take separate personal notes and apply what you learn. This policy does not claim ownership of general knowledge, facts, ideas, or methods, and does not prohibit independent work that does not reproduce protected material or otherwise violate your agreement.

Nothing in this policy removes rights or exceptions that cannot legally be restricted. Technical accessibility conversions permitted by applicable law are not prohibited by these terms.

5 Misuse and ownership concerns

For a material license violation, we may require the unauthorized use to stop and, where lawful and appropriate, suspend or terminate the license after notice and a reasonable opportunity to resolve a remediable violation. Any action remains subject to applicable law and mandatory consumer rights.

To report suspected infringement or an ownership concern, email info@nicasdigitalpage.com with your contact information, a description of the work, the location of the disputed material, and an explanation of your rights or concern. This contact process is not a representation that we operate a registered statutory takedown program.

Mailing address: 1511 3rd Ave, Suite 1002 -1143, Seattle, WA 98101, United States.

Copyright notice: Copyright 2026 Leonica Fountain, operating as NICASDIGITALPAGE. All rights reserved in copyright-protected contributions, subject to the license and legal exceptions described above.